Connecting the Games Industry

games:net brings together members of the gaming industry based in the capital region. From big names to fresh faces, games:net provides support and excellent contacts in the fields of business, politics and research.

Immersing in fantasy worlds, battling mythical creatures and solving intricate riddles – it's an industry full of fun that we take very seriously. games:net berlinbrandenburg offers a platform that unites studios both large and small with publishers and representatives from business, politics and research. We enhance the exchange of our members and share knowledge and ideas. Opportunities such as networking events, joint trade fair stands – for example at gamescom and Nordic Game – and delegate trips abroad create a strong ecosystem – not only in the digital world.
